enhances the business of their Heineken warehouse in Seville with Generix's GCS WMS

Success story

DHL is the global leader in the international express deliveries, transportation by land, air and sea freight and logistics markets. From the express delivery of documents to the management of the replenishment chain, DHL offers a full range of made-to-measure solutions.

Finalised in 2003, DHL Spain is the result of the merger of Guipuzcoana Euro Express, Danzas and DHL. DHL Solutions is their division that specialises in contract logistics, warehouse management and distribution.

DHL has selected Generix Group's GCS WMS for managing logistics movements for their client Heineken, in their warehouse in Seville.

The GCS WMS Warehouse Management System provides solutions for each stage of the logistics business, from receipt to dispatch of the merchandise through to the inventory management, regardless of their type.

In order to increase efficiency and speed, the WMS radio frequency and voice preparation modules have been implemented in the receiving, tracking and preparation operations. Thus, the warehouse preparers can access the processes from their workplace.
